ON FEDERAL GROUND

Coxey's Ragged and Foot-Sore Army Enters the District.

TO BE INSPECTED BY HEALTH OFFICERS

And Possibly Quarantined and Isolated —To Assemble on the Steps of the Capitol To-Morrow at Noon, if Permitted.

Marched Into the District of Columbia.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Coxey's ragged and foot-sore army marched into the District of Columbia to-day, and are encamped to-night on Federal territory within a few miles of the capital. Coxey sleeps at a hotel, where he joined his wife and child this afternoon. The rank and file of the "army" lie on the damp ground in Brightwood Driving park, where thousands inspected them today.

There was no incident in the march from Rockville until the advance guard arrived at the junction of the Brookville pike, where about 150 bicyclists, including Spooner, of Chicago, the amateur long-distance champion, were drawn up in line. They asked for a speech, and Coxey complied.

A toll gate was shortly afterward reached, and, after remonstrances, the general paid 68 cents and passed through with his mounted men.

Mountebank Smith, "the unknown," with his meager contingent of deserters, had marched his men from Rockville in advance of their former comrades, and they established a temporary camp at Silver Springs near the district line.

A squad of a dozen cavalrymen of the regular service from Fort Myer, who were giving their horses an airing, likewise bivouaced at Silver Springs and waited there until the army came along, which they did early in the afternoon, marching by twos, each commune divided from another by a big wagon. There were 330 of them by actual count, including the advance guard and the Jones contingent from Philadelphia.

At the entrance of the driving park was a sign stating that no admission would be charged to the park, but sightseers were expected to contribute something to help along the cause. Many contributions were collected in this way.

Coxey, when questioned as to his next movement, said:

"We shall lose no time at this camp. Tuesday morning we shall march down Twenty-third street to the statue of Washington, and along Pennsylvania avenue past the White House and the treasury, reaching the steps of the capitol at noon. There we shall hold a meeting and impress upon congress the advisability of agreeing to the measures of the Commonwealth, the good roads and the non-interest-bearing bond bills."

"What if they stop you?" was asked.

"They can't stop us. The constitution does not permit them. There'll be no interference. We shall not transgress any law that is constitutional. There'll be no disorder in our parade or meeting. We have a perfect right together on the steps of the capitol, and we'll do so."

Precautions in Washington Against the Commonwealth.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Yesterday afternoon Chief of Police Moore issued a general order concerning the conduct of his men during the Coxey invasion. It is as follows:

Your number will be increased temporarily, and it is expected that members of the thus augmented force will conduct themselves with discretion at all times as will meet the expectations of the community and reflect credit upon the department.

Remember that you are serving the people, and should conduct yourselves as gentlemen. Pay especial attention to the protection of persons and property within the confines of your beat.

Extend to strangers in the city every courtesy.

Suspicious and idle persons caught loitering about public places or institutions, belonging upon the public streets, or from door to door, should be dispersed or apprehended.

Do not use force in making an arrest unless absolutely necessary, and never make a personal matter of an arrest.

Keep your heads clear and eyes open, and make no distinction in persons in maintaining the law.

The first principle to be remembered is the prevention of disorder and crime.

The two Washington detectives who joined the Coxey army at Cumberland have made their report to the chief of police. They say the army is mostly composed of disreputable crowds of "bums" and "hoboes," numbering 275; about forty have labor union cards, but the rest would not work, if they could get it, and those belonging to labor unions were of the kind that never stick to a job longer than two weeks.

One of the officers says: "The army is in a badly disorganized state. The men are dirty, and some of them are covered with vermin. Take them all in all, they are the most forlorn set of men that ever walked through the Maryland hills."

Oman, one of the Coxey lieutenants, arrived in town yesterday to arrange with Col. Redstone, the local Commonwealth agent, for a route to the capitol steps. He and Redstone saw several populist congressmen.

Residents of that part of Washington outside the city limits are trying to devise means for their protection while the army is in the vicinity of their homes, and it was decided to ask the commissioners for police aid in so doing.

Dr. Hammett, the health officer, said yesterday that he would visit the camp Monday with a number of inspectors and physicians to decide whether the sanitary laws have been violated. "In the event that any contagious disease appears in camp," said Dr. Hammett, "it will be necessary to quarantine the entire crowd and isolate any person or persons afflicted with the disease."

Leonard van Harken, the common-weal bugler, and Tom Murphy, whom Coxey dismissed from the army, were arraigned in the police court yesterday for begging on the streets and sent to the workhouse for thirty days.

A sergeant of police was placed on duty at the White House yesterday, making the total force of the police there now twenty-two. Fifteen policemen will be on duty in and about the White House every night and seven in the day, in addition to the ushers and messengers, who are authorized to act as police officers.

Col. Redstone says he has secured a tent that will hold 1,500 people, and he will send it to Brightwood park to be used for Coxey's meetings. He says Coxey's census tent, of which so much has been heard, will hold 7,000 people.

GIVEN A FREE RIDE.

A Train-Load of Captured Coxeyites Taken Back to Portland, Ore.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 30.—Marshal Grady returned to Portland yesterday morning with 435 of the 597 Coxeyites who left Troutdale on a stolen Union Pacific train Saturday. The capture at Arlington was a bit sensational. The troops arrived ahead of the Coxeyites and hid behind freight cars and sand dunes. When the men stopped the stolen train the troops surrounded it while a sergeant and three men boarded the engine. The men were not permitted to leave the cars until Marshal Grady arrived on a special train minutes later. The men were then ordered out and searched. Three revolvers and a number of knives and razors were found. The return to Portland under escort of the troops was without incident.

Upon arrival fifty of the most prominent were placed in jail, and the remainder guarded in box cars on the east side. Yesterday afternoon several hundred sympathizers met on the plaza and made inflammatory speeches. Because of the feeling displayed the marshal requested that troops be held here until to-day, and as a further precaution made arrangements to run the train out on the prairie should there be any indications of an attempted rescue. "Among those who escaped was the newspaper man Shrier, now known to fame and as the practical leader of the Coxeyites as Anthony Wayne."

STRIKING TRAINMEN

United States Troops on the Move to Preserve Order.

ARBITRATION FIRMLY REJECTED.

Nothing but the Restoration of the August Schedule—Knights of Labor Called Out—Engineers and Firemen Return to Work.

The Strike on the Northern Pacific.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 30.—United States troops are on the move to preserve order and aid in the arrest of riotous strikers along the Great Northern railway. This morning Port Snelling was all in a bustle, and to the initiated it looked like the beginning of a campaign against the Indians. Shortly before midnight last night Col. Swain, acting on orders from the president, had directed Col. Mason, in charge of the post at Port Snelling, to send a portion of the third regiment to North Dakota to assist United States Marshal Cronin in serving warrants and making arrests. Accordingly, the whole third regiment was called from barracks at 6 o'clock this evening and four companies selected for the trip. John P. Peterson was named to take charge of the expedition and companies A, B, D and G were selected to go with him. The captains of the companies are respectively John W. Hannay, Arthur Williams, George W. Stouch and Joseph Hale.

After receiving instructions from Col. Mason to act with coolness and bravery, the four companies left the fort without demonstration via the Grand Northern and, barring accidents, will arrive at Grand Forks at 7 o'clock to-morrow morning. The number of men in the four companies is 201.

It is stated that Marshal Cronin will order two of the companies to Devil's lake and use the others where rioting seems most likely.

Fifty United States marshals returned here this morning from Minnesota points. They report the strikers at Barnesville, St. Cloud, Wilmar and Moorhead more inclined to obey the law, and it is hoped the cutting of trains will entirely cease.

The mass meeting at Labor hall this evening was attended by nearly 1,000 men, most of the St. Paul and Minneapolis strikers. Mayor Eustis of Minneapolis appeared and delivered an address urging the men to accept the proposition of the St. Paul and Minneapolis commercial bodies that the whole question of wages be placed in the hands of five arbitrators. This proposition was discussed with bitterness by the strikers, who upon a vote rejected it unanimously, and issued an ultimatum that they would accept nothing but a complete restoration of wages to the August schedules.

Grand Master Workman Sovereign, of the Knights of Labor, confirmed the report that he had ordered all Knights of Labor on the Great Northern system to quit their places to aid the American Railway union in winning its point.

Dispatches to the Great Northern general offices this evening say that the engineers and firemen at Wilmar, St. Cloud and Barnesville, this afternoon reported to their superintendents at those points that they were all ready for duty on any and all trains to which they might be assigned. It was learned also that brakemen on the three branches centering at Crookston have announced their willingness to go to work on Monday.

THE COAL MINERS' STRIKE.

Both Sides Considering the Desirability of a General Resumption.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 30.—A meeting of the coal operators of the Pittsburgh district will likely be held in a day or two to discuss the situation, and to present their side of the case to the miners' officials. Col. W. P. Read, who has been in Pittsburgh several days and talked with most of the operators, said last night:

"The operators in all the leading mining states are willing to try to make a settlement of some kind, but there are very many who will not take part in any state or interstate conference. Some of the Indiana and Illinois operators have refused to attend any meeting. The operators generally, Col. Read said, are not opposed to a conference, but those who are will stand in the way of a general settlement, and if the miners hold to the position they have assumed the suspension is likely to last indefinitely.

Col. Read says the Pittsburgh operators have talked over the situation and are ready to bring about a change, but it must be on a compromise basis to be permanent. Col. Read said that the only thing wanted now was to start some movement that will bring the two sides together. Both operators and miners are ready, and a start in that direction is all that is wanted.

The miners' officials state that the work of organization in the Pittsburgh district will be completed to-day. They also state that they confidently expect to hear from the operators on the matter of a wage adjustment before the close of the week.

Part of the puddling department of Jones & Laughlin's mill, the Sligo mill, Singer, Nimick & Co., and probably the Clinton mill will close to-day on account of the fuel famine.

To Call a Conference to End the Great Miners' Strike.

CHICAGO, April 30.—The Herald says that secret conferences of the operators in Illinois and Indiana coal fields and western representatives of Ohio and Pennsylvania operators were held in this city Saturday looking to the settlement of the near future of the great coal miners' strike. The result of the conferences was that Saturday evening a call was sent out for a conference of the bosses at any point they would be willing to meet at.

The conference, the Herald says, is likely to be held at Pittsburgh, although Columbus may be chosen.

James W. Ellsworth, one of the representatives who attended the conference, said he believed the strike would be of short duration, and that a proposition would soon be submitted to the miners that would be acceptable to them.

Determined to Work Regardless of Strikers.

TOLUCA, Ill., April 30.—A majority of the miners here are determined to work regardless of the wishes of the Spring Valley, LaSalle Street strikers. At a meeting held Saturday all but forty of the white men and all the colored men decided to return to work to-day. President Devlin assured the men that the company would do everything in its power for their protection. He relies on the word of Acting Governor Gill to furnish such protection if again called upon to do so. While here Saturday the latter promised to call out an armed force if the miners of this place were interfered with.

A Cowardly Act.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., April 29.—Upon the arrival of the train bearing the United States troops at 11:20 this morning, somebody in the crowd threw a heavy piece of iron, which cut a deep gash in the head of Brakeman Frank. The train was held at Fergus Falls while his injuries were attended to. The engineers and firemen all returned to work this morning.

Congressional Forecast.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The fifth week of the tariff debate in the senate opens to-day. If rumors be true some material changes in the bill have been made in the way of concessions, and the industries of the states represented by the so-called "conservative" senators will get more protection than was believed possible early last week. In many cases, it is said, specific rates will be restored and senate reductions of rates imposed by the house bill have been abandoned. No changes have been made in the free list, so far as can be ascertained. Coal, iron ore and lead ore will, it is said, remain as the senate previously reported them, although great pressure was brought to bear to have duties on these raw materials increased.

In this connection an interesting story was afloat to-day. While lead ore remains unchanged, it is given out that the duties on lead products have been increased. Of these, of course, white lead is the chief. Under the present law white lead has a duty of 3 cents a pound. The house committee reduced it to 1½ cents and that was permitted to stand. It is now said that this rate will be increased to 2 cents, the authority for that statement being a well-known senator who ought to know what is going on in committee. It is also said to be practically settled that the one-tenth of a cent discriminating duty on refined sugar, levied against countries paying a bounty in refined sugars exported will be given beyond a question. The sugar growers, represented by Senators Caffery and Blanchard, still believe they will be able to get 45 per cent. advance on raw sugar instead of the 40 per cent. the committee has offered them.

The sugar and lead schedules, which have caused a vast amount of trouble, being so nearly agreed upon, and the income tax modified so as to insure the support of the malcontents, and certain other duties affecting the manufacturing states of New York, New Jersey and Maryland having been increased, it seems as if the time was near at hand when the democrats would be in a position to force the fighting with a solid party behind the managers of the bill.

Although the bill was taken up by paragraph Wednesday last, not a line has yet been changed nor has the first paragraph been acted upon. In addition to the unfinished speeches of Senators Quay, Dole and Stewart, Mr. Squire, of Washington, has given notice of an intention to speak this week, and Mr. Aldrich is preparing a speech which he hopes to deliver before the week ends. It is not unlikely that if the expected committee amendments, which Mr. Aldrich announced some days ago, were to be forthcoming, should be reported this week an animated impromptu discussion will grow up therefrom.

According to agreement May 3 has been set apart for the discussion of the Chinese treaty. Mr. Call, believing that he has the strength, is anxious to defeat the nomination of George W. Wilson, nominated to be collector of internal revenue for the district of Florida. Each of these matters is likely to consume a day, so that the chances for much progress in the senate are not favorable. Very much more progress may, however, be made in the committee room.

No variation from the programme followed by the house for the past two months is promised by the managers for this week. "I can see nothing ahead of us in the near future," said Speaker Crisp, "but the consideration of appropriation bills. They are making it slow work for us, but until these measures are all out of the way no legislation of a general character will be entered upon."

The pending business is the army appropriation bill, consideration of which was begun Saturday. Probably most of the week will be exhausted in disposing of it. When it has been sent to the senate the river and harbor bill will be taken up. After that will come the Indian and agricultural bills, the legislative, executive and judicial, and general deficiency. The probabilities are that the 1st of June will see one or two of them still undisposed of.

No Jurisdiction in the Matter.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The mandamus case of Eugene Gaddis against Secretary Carlisle to compel the latter to show cause why the former should not be restored to his position as a clerk in the treasury department, was dismissed by Judge Bradley, with the statement that the courts had no power to interfere in the matter of removals in the executive departments.

WITH LOSS OF LIFE

The Old St. Charles Hotel, of New Orleans,

WHICH COST ONE MILLION DOLLARS,

Went Down Before the Fury of the Fire King—Two Persons Killed by Jumping, and Many Burned in Their Rooms.

NEW ORLEANS, April 28, 10:11 p. m.—The St. Charles hotel, the largest building in the city, is burning. One person burned to death so far.

NEW ORLEANS, April 29.—At least two lives were lost at the St. Charles hotel and how many more will not be known until the ruins of the handsome structure are searched.

The fire was discovered at about 11 o'clock in the kitchen of the hotel. Everything was quiet around the building at the time, all the servants having disappeared from part of the building and most of the guests having retired for the night. The origin of the fire is not known. It had gained a good headway in the rear portion of the structure before its presence became known to the clerks in the office. An alarm was at once turned in, and every one of the employees of the house who could be found at that hour was started through the halls to awaken the guests. It is thought about 200 persons were sleeping in the hotel at the time the fire broke out, though the exact number of guests is not known, and the register, with everything else of value in the office, is destroyed.

Some of those who occupied rooms on the upper stories were less fortunate, and the two known to have been killed were men who jumped from these upper windows. The bodies of both had been severely burned before the leap for life was made and in both cases the clothing was nearly gone. The bodies were so mangled by the fall that recognition was impossible and there was nothing about the little remaining clothing of either to indicate the identity of the unfortunates. The fire burned its way with great rapidity to the freight elevator in the rear of the St. Charles hotel and soon spread to the upper floors, so that the third, fourth and fifth floors on the Commerce-street side of the hotel were ablaze. Most of the guests were on the St. Charles-street side, and they soon began to make their appearance at the windows on that side. Many of them were in their night clothes and in scanty attire, and most of them, with the aid of ladders brought quickly into use by the firemen, made their escape to other hotels near by.

How many others were left upon the upper floors; how many who failed to reach the windows in time or, reaching the outer walls, with the flames close upon them suffered a horrible death by suffocation rather than make the hopeless attempt to save their lives by jumping forty or fifty feet to the stone pavement below, can only be conjectured.

The hotel was gutted before the firemen had made the slightest headway in checking the flames. Indeed, it required their most heroic efforts to save the human life imperiled in the fast-burning wooden structure.

Nothing of the contents of the hotel or the baggage of the guests was saved, and it is doubtful if in their rush for their lives any of these frightened people took time to gather up any valuables they may have had near them at the time the alarm was sounded.

When the fire was at its greatest heat burning embers were carried in great clouds across St. Charles street and rained upon the roof of the building on the opposite corner of St. Charles and Gravier streets, in which are located the offices of the Western Union Telegraph Co. This building could not be protected and was soon ablaze in a dozen places, while the force of operators at work in the Western Union office began making preparations to flee for their lives when the word should be given.

The St. Charles hotel was one of the finest establishments of its kind in the south. It was built in 1836 at a cost of about $1,000,000.

THE HORROR GROWS.

Later News from Greece Detailing the Destruction by the Late Earthquake.

ATHENS, April 30.—The latest reports from Athlona say that on Friday 363 shocks of earthquake were felt there in eight hours. For two hours the trembling of the earth was almost continuous. For a radius of three and a half miles, on every side of the town, the fields and highways have been torn with deep fissures. The sea has encroached upon the shore about sixty feet.

Vast masses of rock have been loosened in the mountains and have rolled down into the lowlands. The people were warned almost constantly on Friday and Saturday by rumbling and loud reports under the mountain sides. The shores of the large island of Euboea, which lies off the coast Boetia and Attica, has sunk six feet and a half. The Ailipso sulphur springs are emitting torrents of boiling water.

Dispatches from all parts of the kingdom indicate that former reports of death and damage to property have underestimated the losses. The list of dead and injured grows hourly. The misery in the smaller towns of the stricken districts is extreme. Hundreds who were prosperous householders before the earthquakes, are now without food and shelter for their families and are begging for help. The government continues to do all in its power to relieve the suffering, but the burden is beyond its means, and scores of families are already on the verge of starvation. Nearly 100,000 persons are said to have been left destitute of food and shelter in the Locria district alone.

A WOMAN who threw a spoiled fish at an actress in a Paris theater has been fined, with characteristic native politeness, "for placing food upon the stage without a license." Yet it was the license she took that was objected to.

DEBOLD PAULSEN, ex-treasurer of Sangamon county and the leading Republican candidate for sheriff, died at his home in Curran township Sunday, aged 66 years. He served five years as treasurer, from 1877 to 1882, and has been prominent in county politics. His death was the result of a fall received while climbing a fence at his farm last Tuesday. Paulsen in 1882 was elected treasurer against a Democratic majority of 100.
J. E. OSBORN, of the Pacific Express Co., had a lively little adventure this morning which effectually broke the monotony of life on East Main street. Mr. Osborn was out driving when in some manner the horse managed to get the bits out of his mouth. The animal then started east at a Jay Eye See rate, and several hundred small boys and men attempted to keep up with the procession. The outfit was finally rounded up near the gas house, without injury to driver, horse or vehicle.
We are in receipt of late copies of Santa Cruz and Los Angeles, Cal., papers, which contain woman suffrage articles from the facile pen of Mrs. Alice

To the Citizens of Macon County.
I have announced myself as a candidate for sheriff of Macon county, subject to the decision of the Republican convention.
I was born in the State of Illinois in 1846; went to the army in 1862 at the age of 16 years and served until the end of the war in the same brigade with Ex-President Harrison. I was with Sherman's army on the march to the sea and after continuous and active service was honorably discharged. I am now a member of Dunham Post, No. 141, G. A. R. I have always been a Republican of the deepest dye.
During the past seventeen years I have been a detective for the last ten with the Wabash Co. My record as a detective with the Wabash Co. is well known to the citizens of Macon county, as I have resided in Decatur for the last nine years. I have arrested and convicted more criminals than any man who ever worked for the Wabash Co. My life as a thief catcher has made me familiar with more criminals than any other man in Macon county. Under all conditions and in all places I have fully discharged the duties of my office to the railroad company. If I am nominated and elected sheriff of Macon county, I shall fulfill the duties of the office in the same fearless and conscientious manner in which I have fulfilled my duties to the railroad company.
Very respectfully,
WM. M. BALLARD.

F. L. Hays for County Clerk.
Elsewhere in to-day's REPUBLICAN may be found the announcement of Maj. F. L. Hays as a candidate for county clerk, subject to the decision of the Republican county convention. Maj. Hays is well and favorably known to the people of Macon county, and has lived among them for 39 years, and until the last two or three years has been engaged in the mercantile business. He is a thorough-going Republican and has always taken an interest in the success of its nominees. He has never before been a candidate for any office. He now asks the consideration of the Republicans of the county, and it may be fairly said that in case he secures the nomination he will make a winning campaign.

The Fire.
The fire department was called out this morning at 7 o'clock to the Geo. W. Powers residence on North Edward street. The sparks from a burning fuel had set the shingles on fire at the west end of the house, and before the department arrived had burned a hole through the roof. The flames were soon extinguished.
Clean Up.
The attention of the street superintendent is called to the dirty condition of North Edward street from Prairie to Eldorado, and North street from the second ward school house to College hill. The residents along those streets are somewhat indignant at the shape in which they are allowed to remain.
Dirt for Sale.

DECATUR SENTIMENT.
For and Against Knocking Out the Democratic Gerrymander.
On the editorial page of this issue is a reference to the important suit commenced at Danville Saturday to annul the senatorial apportionment in Illinois made by the Democrats in 1893. The litigation has attracted serious attention all over the state and opinions are freely expressed for and against the proceeding. The Decatur correspondent of the Chicago Tribune Saturday and Sunday telegraphed to that paper interviews with the following citizens:
DECATUR, Ill., April 28.—[Special.]—The sentiment among Republicans generally is that the gerrymander should be set aside.
John Ulrich—The apportionment is an outrage and a great injustice. It ought to be set aside if possible.
Jason Rogers If it can be done, go ahead. The old apportionment would be better for the party.
W. P. Calhoun, member of the State Central committee—I am in favor of knocking it out. No such piece of political villainy should be allowed to stand. The juggling with the districts made many of the old numbered Democrats.
Dr. S. J. Burnstead—It was a wild and indecent piece of political juggling and ought to be set aside.
M. P. Kanan, ex-Mayor J. C. Lake. E. S. McDonald, R. P. Lytle, and many other Republicans second the efforts of Mr. Hunt. Democrats generally approve of the new apportionment. They are inclined to ridicule the effort to set aside the work of the Legislature.
DECATUR, Ill., April 29.—[Special.]—Opinion on the proceedings to test the validity of the senatorial apportionment is given by:
Charles A. Ewing, Democrat—I do not think it possible to have the apportionment interfered with by the judicial department. Gerrymandering is frequently unfair, but there can be no interference unless the Legislature has violated some fundamental principle of the constitution. Making political parties have all ways made changes in districts to suit the conditions and honors are easy on that score.
Frank Shaffer, Democrat—All political parties do it. It is right in one case and it is right in another. Let it stand.
W. H. Ennis, Republican—I think the apportionment is unfair and unjust and second Mr. Hunt's efforts. Since Lincoln's time the Republican party as a whole has legislated on principle for the good of the greatest number of people. When a man or a party becomes selfish failure comes. No party can exist which is wrapped up in selfishness. To succeed parties as well as men must be broad minded.
Charles Laux, Democrat—If the apportionment is illegal and unjust let it be changed. Legislation should be in the interest of all the people irrespective of party. If a new superintendent takes charge of a railroad he gets his men in and puts the others out. That's what the Democrats are doing. We can't get everything to suit us.
Supervisor H. F. May, Republican—If the apportionment had been made according to law I am with Capt. Hunt, and I believe every honest man in the state will second his efforts.
Mayor D. C. Moffitt, Democrat—It is all schoolboy play and will not amount to anything. The powers that be are the bosses and there will be no change.
Jerry Donahue, Democrat, editor of the Decatur Reformer and recently appointed postmaster—The case cannot succeed. The disparity of the present apportionment in the way of inequalities and contiguous territory is no greater than it was in 1882. If the apportionment is eventually set aside, by the Illinois Supreme court, which is politically Republican by a majority of one, the impression of the ruling among the people will be altogether bad.
B. K. Durfee, Democrat, State Superintendent of Insurance—The apportionment is as fair as it could have been made. It is fairer than the Republicans have ever made. The litigation inaugurated is more for a political purpose than anything else. When two partisan Republicans get together they are like the ancient orators of Rome—their only grin at each other. Mr. Hunt to be fair should institute a comparison of apportionments made by the Republican legislatures in this state with the one with which exceptions are now being taken. I think the legislature followed the law and that there will be no change.
